

Press Release — 10th December 2019

Swintt continuing strong 2019 with launch of Panda Warrior

Swintt, the innovative new games provider who have been generating hype since formation in May, are closing off a successful inaugural year with the launch of their new game Panda Warrior.

Drawing upon influences from ancient Chinese folklore, Panda Warrior is Swintt's most ambitious game to date which incorporates progressive meters and cutting-edge graphics.

Players will be able to enjoy three different bonus rounds by collecting symbols and filling up the progressive meters, with Random Wilds, Wild Reels or Sticky Wilds energising up to 12 free games which can lead to massive wins. Saved-state functionality means players can come back and pick up the game with meter progressions unaffected.

Highly detailed graphics and particle effects bring a vibrant and colourful style to Panda Warrior which show the next level of Swintt's product design. The progressive meter function adds gamification elements which further underscore the development direction.

David Mann, Business Development Director at Swintt said of the new release: "The recent launches of Golden Genie and Wild Wild Tiger have made an instant impact on the market, and we expect Panda Warrior to be a flagship title for us to close the year off on a high, and take a major release into 2020."

"Our partners have been anticipating the release of Panda Warrior and we are excited to have the game available to our network this month, after a brief spell of exclusivity."

Panda Warrior follows in a line of successful game launches for Swintt, as well as numerous partnership agreements with operators including Hero Gaming, Gaming Innovation Group and Videoslots.
